The Personnel of the Republican Party.-The Reason Why It Can't be Led by the Nose.

the Republican party in Ohio, Wisconsin, New York and other States, but none that put the case more strikingly than a leader

The Republican party is the dispring of insurrection against the abuse of party machinery. It was originally made up trom two minorities—one of the Whigs of the Democrats-respectively and one of the Democrats—respectively disgusted with the conduct of their party leaders on the ruling questions of that hour. When it came into power in 1860 it was full of the courage, the vigor, the sincerity of men who had achieved success only by taking all the risks of failure for conscience's sake. It was still a microsity party in the nation. During the for conscience's sake. It was still a mi-nority party in the nation. During the war it was steadily recruited from men who broke loose from the Democratic party from motives of patriotism, and who, in the great majority of cases, pro-fessed, not perpetual allegiance, but only such alliance as the times demanded. From this unceasing infusion of independ-ent minds, the Republican party has ac-quired a temper that cannot safely be trilled with, and its conduct in the recent elections is proof of that fact. The thoustrifled with, and its conduct in the recent elections is proof of that fact. The thousands of its voters who refused to go to the polls would not vote for Democratic candidates because these represented other principles than their own, but they gave notice, by their abstention, that they did not regard the party organization as at present representing their views.

It is evident that there is no charm in the mere tact of "regularity" to compel

It is evident that there is no cash in the mere fact of "regularity" to compel the votes of Republicans. The party has been united, not by discipline enforced by authority, but by genuine consent, inspired by common devotion to the same cause. It cannot be kept united unless the honest convictions of its members are the honest convictions of its members are satisfied. Doubtless it has its mercenary, satisfied. Doubties it has its mercenary, its ignorant, its bigoted, and its narrow-minded etements; and partisan leaders who are nearest to these may not unnaturally have supposed the party to be controlled by them. But it is not. The men of conscience, of intelligence, of indeience are always numerous enough to pendence are always numerous enough defeat the party when they are not satisfied. It is obvious that they are not satisfied with the immediate past. Can our leaders satisfy them in the future? That is the point on which turns the continuance or the dissolution of the Republican

The Moundsville National Expresser Itself on the Panic.

We have waited long and anxiously for our favorite paper at Moundsville to express itself in regard to the condition of the country. We felt that the deep thinker who presides over the destinies of that incomparable sheet was biding his time, and that some day or other, either this year or next, he would have something to say that would be worth reading. In this expectation we have not been disappointed. In less than two months from the outbreak of the panic he has completed his ruminations and given them to the public in all the sententious incomprehensibility of which he is such an achensibility of which he is such an acknowledged master. His matchless leader is as follows:

As it is natural to suppose that the National should have something to say in regard to the remarkable money panic now convulsing and threatening the country, it cannot more than reflect the passing events and record the ups and downs of the great contre of public interest and salety—Money. The New York Troune, which used to be a great authority in this regard was of the opinion that gold was the true standard of the value of currency. This is so in all countries. The use of greenbacks serves as a great convenience to indicate the credit and finantial transport of the present trying financial times, to allow banks to hoard under ordinary circumstances, it ought would benefit a larger number than it would benefit a larger number than it will by hoarding in banks and allowing the banks to use it.

HEAVY ARTILLARY.

Just for a moment examine the followce to indicate the credit and finan venience to indicate the credit and finan-cial condition of the country, and it is reasonable to suppose that as they were put in circulation as a commodity and necessity when there was not suffi-cient gold and silver, they will more than likely continue so until the finan-ces of the nation grow up to the gold basis. These crashes result from a re-turn to the system. Ambitious and reckturn to the system. Ambitious and reckess parties in business must consequently of hylalutin shoddyism and high prices are gone by. Their occupation is gone."

EXECUTIVE DEPARTMENT,
STATE OF WEST VIRIGNIA,
CHARLESTON, Nov. 7, 1878.

Gentlemen of the Senate: from which we make the following extract. The Times, we may remark, is more of a strictly party paper than any of the Republican papers in New York city;

The Republican papers is the collection what nurnose."

Gentlemen of the Senate:

In response to the Resolution adopted by the Senate requesting me "to communicate to the Senate what amount of money, if any, has been borrowed, at the senate is the collection what nurnose." what purpose."

I respectfully submit the following state-

I received on twenty-seventh ult., the following report from the Treasurer:

TREASURER'S OFFICE, Oct. 27, 1873. To His Excellency J. J. Jacqb, Governor. To His Accelency J. J. Jacob, Governor.

Sir, I have the honor to inform you that the Fund set apart for State purposes is exhausted, and that it will be necessary to make some provisions to meet the current expenses of the State.

Respectfully,

John S. Burdett, Treasurer.

Join S. Burdett, Transurer.

He also informed me verbally that, for the reason stated, he had been compelled to refuse the payment of two warrants that had been issued from the Auditor's Office. On the next day, I stated these facts to some of the members of the Finance Committee of the Senate. And on the following day, I had an informal consultation with the Finance Committee of the Senate in which I laid before them consultation with the Finance Committee of the Senate in which I laid before them the condition of the Treasury, and expressed the opinion that it was necessary to make a temporary loan to meet the wants of the Treasury. All of the members present concurred in this opinion. In this consultation, it was the general understanding that a loan of $20,000 would be sufficient for immediate wants. After this consultation, and on the same day, I entered into a contract with the Board of the School Fund for the loan of $16,970 for ninety days, with six per cent interest from date, and executed a promissory note, in the name of the State, to issory note, in the name of the State, to said Board, in accordance with the consaid Board, in accordance with the con-tract. On the first day of November I borrowed from Hon. C. M. Bishop, the Senstor from Preston county, the sum of $1,500, with 7:30 interest payable in ninety days. I also gave a promissory note to him, in the name of the State.

This money was berrowed to meet the current expenses of the State. The fund for general purposes had been exhausted, and the receipts of the Treasury during this quarter are necessarily small and in-adequate to the current demands.

Very respectfully, JOHN J. JACOB, Governor. "GINSENG BNAKE ROOT, &C."

A subject over which in their different A subject over which in their different phases, shapes, &c., there has been considerable discussion, particularly at the last session. A few days ago it was again resurrected by the patron of the bill, and he after spending one half day battling with its adversaries, and failing to achieve the great object of his life, was obliged to fall back in good order, however still retaining enough presence of mind and activity to direct the course he wished his root bill should take, and had it committed to the care of the Judiciary. The legislation concerning the legislation concerning the SCHOOL PUND has not yet been completed. When last discussed there was brought out from various parties, remarks of suspicion as to the condition of this fund, whether the fund was get-at-able or not. There ap-

Mr. Knotts, (of Marion,) offered the fol-lowing resolution:
Resolved, That the President of the United States, Ulyases S. Grant, deserves the especial condemnation of the people of the United States for proposing and signing the "Salary Grab Bill," whereby he placed one hundred thousand dollars in his own private pocket; and but for Pres-ident Grant's influence, said bill would never have been proposed or become a suffer for any extravagance or thought-lesaness. Square, unequivocal dealing is the best criterion in business. When it is law, and for his influence in procuring the overlooked, then there is ground to look out for squalls. Money is close, and will be apt to be more contracted. The days of hydalitin shodderm and high prices.

After reading the above we feel that anything additional from us would be in the nature of reint control to the ything additional from us would be in a nature of paint on the lilly or gilt the pure gold. He sits alone the tripod, like the great Napoleon is throne; "wrapped in the solitude of a own originality."

Soul, will have to look well to his laurels or they will be lost forever to him. By the way, I fear that great and good man has been tampered with, as he has cooled down considerably about the United States Benatorship. Considerable snow fell here yesterday and to-day. Weather consequently disagreeable. Circuit Court still in session. One of the two murder trials reported in my last has been closed. Verdict, murder in the first degree.
